DSC Heartland Chapter Gets Kids Outside

In late July, DSC Heartland hosted a youth Hunter Education certification course in Nebraska. This was done through a joint effort with the Nebraska Game and Parks doing most of the advertising for us and providing us with all the teaching materials necessary along with the test form. Papillion Gun Club in Papillion, Nebraska was our host providing facilities for a classroom setting and kitchen. Lunch was provided for both kids and parents.

At their top-notch trap shooting facility, the chapter held a youth clinic for the kids that chose to stay and participate after the hunter ed course was completed. Instructors took each of the kids one by one to the trap shooting range and taught them proper shooting techniques. They live-fired 12- and 20-gauge shotguns multiple times at clay pigeons. Many targets were hit by the first-time shooters, putting smiles on the faces of all the kids, parents and grandparents present.

Thanks to DSC Heartland, 42 new certified hunters are ready to enjoy their heritage.

The Outdoor “Classroom”

In this issue of Camp Talk, you will find a few articles highlighting outdoor education. There's a story on the cover about kids who participated in hunter ed and trap shooting with DSC Heartland. There is a story from the Wildlife Society’s conservation camp in West Texas, and one about the recent successful youth event by Trinity Oaks Foundation. Even the Game Warden class graduation shows the other end of the outdoor education spectrum. All of these activities are in some way, large or small, funded and supported by DSC as a part of our mission.

Why? Because any outdoors enthusiast knows there is something magical about being outside. People who spend time outside understand why it is important to practice wise use of natural resources, why hunting and fishing matter, and more importantly, why hunters, anglers and outdoorsy people care. There is something wonderful and irreplaceable outside – it cannot be manufactured or packaged. We must protect and conserve that!

I included the Game Warden graduation to highlight a couple of things. For one, every one of those cadets, now peace officers, serving our state started out as a kid in the outdoors. If you polled them, you might find one or two of them who came to love the outdoors late in life, but to the last person, they love the outdoors so much that they have committed their careers to protecting our wild spaces, our wildlife and the people who enjoy it. That level of commitment cannot be bought! The second reason is somehow a secret but shouldn’t be – DSC pays the life insurance premiums for game wardens in Texas. Next time you talk to a game warden, ask them if they know that. Some don’t!

September 15 is the S.A.F.E.T.Y. Extravaganza that DSC sponsors for students in the Outdoor Adventures program in surrounding area schools. The Outdoors Tomorrow Foundation is another of the organizations funded by DSC as part of our mission to promote outdoor education. Our volunteers love this event so much and show up again and again, every year. If you read this article online before Sept. 13, you may still have time to join us at Greystone Castle as a volunteer. Contact Events Manager Crystal Allison, crystal@biggame.org, for more info.

I look forward to seeing members old and new at the steady slate of activities throughout the fall – monthly meetings, DSC 100 meetings, etc. Come up and say hello! Bring a friend! Show them what DSC is all about.

Karl Evans, DSC President
The chapter members most responsible for this event were Chuck Kopocis, a certified instructor for Nebraska Game and Parks, also the secretary for the chapter, Rick Allely chapter director-at-large, and Tom Kroll, a member of DSC Heartland.

Forty kids and two parents took the class. When the test results were announced, all had passed and were given a big round of applause. All are now ready to continue the hunting heritage.

A great addition to this event was the Sensory Safari trailer, on loan from the Iowa SCI chapter to help promote youth education. CT

Outdoor Youth Event in South Texas

What if there was a youth shooting and outdoors day, and no one showed up? Fortunately, Trinity Oaks Foundation has never had that problem. In fact, they were faced with the opposite! In July, Trinity Oaks opened up registration for their youth shooting and angling event. Modeling their event on similar activities to DSC’s S.A.F.E.T.Y. Extravaganza, they thought they would get some interest and probably fill up the roster with 50 kids, maybe. To everyone’s pleasant surprise, the roster topped 142 by the time kids and parents began showing up for the Saturday event.

With plenty of cool water and warm encouragement, the hot July day was filled with big smiles, excited whoop-whoops and loads of fun. The venue, Bexar County Community Shooting Center, was able to accommodate everything including a pool full of catfish to catch, BBQ grills for the hamburger and hot dog free lunch, five stations, and a big shade tent. Guest speakers filled in at the cool-down breaks, from game wardens to game meat sampling to deer rattling with Larry Weishuhn, co-host of “DSC’s Trailing the Hunter’s Moon” on Pursuit Channel.

Demonstrating the sight picture and the trigger squeeze, this volunteer may be putting this youngster on the road to a lifetime of great shooting and hunting.

“Show of hands! Who had fun today?”

Most of the volunteers are expert marksmen who gave pro tips to budding young nimrods.

Larry Weishuhn enthralled the kids with deer behavior during the rut, and why rattling works.
Photography is one of the best ways to show others the values and necessity of hunting and wildlife management. This year’s Photography Contest is open to DSC members of all ages. Entries are accepted as long as photography is not part of your profession. Qualifying entries received in time will be shown in slideshows during the January 2019 convention.

There are six categories for which you can apply with your photos:

- Wildlife
- Landscape
- Fishing
- Hunting
- Other
- Mobile Device

There will be a winner in each category, and an Overall Grand Prize Winner, selected from among the category winners. Winners will be announced at the April 2019 DSC monthly meeting.

Submission forms are on the DSC website: www.biggame.org/awards/photography-competition/

- Photos must be made during this year.
- Entries must be made by the photographers themselves, rather than by the photo subjects.
- Each photo must be a maximum of 8mb, 300dpi.
- Entries must be submitted by e-mail only.
  - Please save the image as CategoryFirstnameLastname (Example: LandscapeJohnDoe1 or LandscapeJohnDoe2 or OtherSuzySmith1).
  - Subject line should read, PHOTO CONTEST

For more information, call Karrie (972) 980-9800.

Remember, judging is based on the quality (impact, composition, and lighting) of your photo, not the quality of the animal. Please submit respectful photos.

DSC is proud to support this organization that is setting a shining example for outdoor education, sharing our mission of educating youth and the general public. For more information, visit Trinity Oaks Foundation online, www.trinityoaksfoundation.org

Instructors from Army Bass Anglers showed participants how to knot a leader line before they dropped a line into the catfish pool.

Each participant’s name was drawn for door prizes that included BB guns, archery equipment, rods and reels, and binoculars – essential equipment to continue what they learned.
“In a civilized and cultivated country wild animals only continue to exist at all when preserved by sportsmen. The excellent people who protest all hunting, and consider sportsmen as enemies of wildlife, are ignorant of the fact that in reality the genuine sportsman is by all odds the most important factor in keeping the larger and more valuable wild creatures from total extermination.”

− Theodore Roosevelt.

Dallas Safari Club invites outdoor enthusiasts from all around the world to support conservation of wild creatures and wild places by bidding on one or more of many outstanding hunting opportunities offered through auction during DSC’s 2019 MOGAMBO Convention & Sporting Expo. Imagine yourself traveling deep into the South African lowveld tracking Cape buffalo through thick mopane scrub when suddenly your guide stops short (as does your heart), you raise your gun with anticipation and experience first-hand the thrill of Dagga Boy danger…or stalking the majestic red stag high on an Irish mountainside in some of the most ancient and pristine wilderness imaginable. Wherever your pursuits take you, DSC’s MOGAMBO Auctions has the perfect hunting experience waiting for you! Over the course of four days, bidders will also be tempted with fantastic fishing trips, custom fishing gear, fine firearms, array of optics, one-of-a-kind knives, original art, exquisite jewelry, fabulous furs and so much more during evening Live Auctions Wednesday, Thursday, Friday & Saturday, Live & Silent Auctions during the Ladies Luncheon & Life Member Breakfast and, of course, the outstanding Expo Silent Auction held during show hours in the Convention Hall (each auction will also be available online for remote bidding!). Bid generously knowing your auction dollars support conservation, youth outdoor education, hunters’ advocacy and, most importantly, help preserve the continuity of wild creatures and wild places.

Happy Bidding!

It was getting pretty quiet in my world. From my first appointment nine months ago with Dr. Price at the Hearing Professional Center, everyone has been friendly, helpful, courteous, and professional. Each time I have called or walked into the office, they have done whatever it took to help improve my hearing.

It has opened up the world of hearing for me again.

Hotel Reservation Reminder

At press time, most of the hotel block for the DSC show still has plenty of availability. Hotel reservations for the 2019 Mogambo Convention & Sporting Expo can be made by going to: www.biggame.org/hotel-reservations-2019. Choose either EXHIBITOR or ATTENDEE links. (There is no difference in the availability of rooms – this is simply a way for DSC to track attendance.)

Should you have any questions with online reservations or need personal assistance please contact Connections Housing at 404-842-0000 or toll free at 1-855-687-3725. Office hours are Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Eastern Time. You can also send an email with questions or specific requests to DSC@connectionshousing.com.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Any contact regarding your hotel reservation will be from DSC Staff or from Connections Housing staff. The emails will be from [name]@biggame.org, groupcampaigns@pkghlrss.com, Dallas Safari Club Housing dsc@connectionshousing.com or [name]@connectionshousing.com.

*DSC has contracted with Connections Housing for assistance in securing hotel reservations for the 2019 Convention and Annual Sporting Expo. There are NO other DSC authorized room agents or providers. If you are contacted by any such alleged hotel room provider or agent, please contact Kamille Martin at info@biggame.org and forward to Kamille a copy of any written solicitation you receive. If you reserve a room through any company other than DSC Connections Housing, you will not be in the DSC room block, and DSC will not be able to assist with any issues that may arise.

Important Reminder for Exhibitors

CURRENT EXHIBITORS

Booth placements have been finalized. An email was sent to all exhibitors with their assigned booth number and the 2019 updated floor plan. Booth balances became due on August 1.

As a reminder, Freeman is the only authorized provider for DSC. You will receive an email in mid-September with a link to their services, and this link will be posted on our Convention web page as well.

Freeman will never contact you via phone to offer their services. If any other company contacts you, they do not have authorized access to the Kay Bailey Hutchison Convention Center. Any other freight and service company will only be able to drop freight at the loading dock. Freeman staff can deliver it to your booth but must charge you for their service. This results in double charges for exhibitors. DSC is unable to assist exhibitors in disputing these charges.

PROSPECTIVE EXHIBITORS

At press time, the show is sold out, and there are no booth spaces available. If you are already on our waiting list, your information is in our database and is carried over from year to year. If DSC can offer you a booth, due to a last-minute cancellation, you will be contacted. The selections are made based on information that was provided on your application.

If you are not on the waiting list and wish to be considered, it is best to visit the website and fill out the application. Go to: https://www.biggame.org/convention/exhibitor-information/exhibitor-application/. Be sure to represent your business fully and in its best light on the application itself. No charges are required to be on the waiting list, but DSC cannot consider anyone who has not submitted the appropriate forms in full. Because the Convention department is assisting current exhibitors and donors, the staff will not be able to take applications over the phone and will not have the ability to “guesstimate” the availability of booth space.

We look forward to seeing everyone, Jan. 17-20, 2019 for DSC’s Mogambo – ‘The Greatest Hunters’ Convention on The Planet’!”

“But he told me I could!”

In Texas, in the middle of dove season, we are responsible for knowing season dates, bag limits, shell capacity restrictions. For example, there is a prohibition on hunting over baited fields, among many other laws and rules. As experienced hunters, most of us know those laws, but they can still seem complicated. When one steps into the world of international big game hunting, complications can be magnified exponentially.

Hunters from any country are responsible for obeying rules and regulations that govern traveling with firearms, importing and exporting to the country where the hunt takes place; the rules and regulations regarding legal take of game, seasons, limits. Laws vary from country to country and often state to state or province to province. Laws and regulations also change with some degree of regularity. In the U.S., we are governed by state law; and federal laws such as the Lacey Act and the Endangered Species Act. More recently, some U.S. states have enacted laws that bar the importation of otherwise legally hunted trophies.

From time to time, DSC is asked to create a database of laws and regulations in the countries where members and non-members hunt – a request understates both the magnitude of the task and the real possibility that those laws may not even be current by the time the database is published.

The age-old maxim still applies: Ignorance of the law is no excuse.

So what can the international hunter do to protect and educate themselves? First and foremost, do your homework. The wealth of information we have access to via the internet is incredible. Hunt with reputable outfitters – ask them lots of questions and then verify their answers. Use a competent and reputable booking agent. Check with your state and federal resources in advance of the hunt – the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, or the comparable authority in your state, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for all U.S. citizens.

A number of other organizations can help as well. Conservation Force has a wealth of information about legal issues pertaining to hunting, especially internationally. Check with the professional hunting association in the country in which the hunt will take place. Use a reputable import/export agent. Consider using an agent to assist you in importing a firearm into the country of the hunt. Ask questions, verify the answers, choose wisely. This is common sense, but is an absolute must for legal and ethical hunting.

Do these things, but do them knowing that the “But he said I could” excuse – whether it is the outfitter, guide, booking agent, buddy who just got back, etc. – will not save you from prosecution. You might face revocation of the ability to import your guns, forfeiture of your trophies, or worse, if a law is violated.

You – and you alone – are ultimately responsible for knowing, understanding and complying with all laws that pertain to your hunt. Not only will this understanding make your hunt enjoyable, but you will become an example to hunters and non-hunters alike as a prime example of a legal and ethical hunter. CT.

Cole Findley reflects on his Common Grizzly, First Place in the 2018 Youth Category

2019 Member Trophy Awards

• An official score sheet for each animal entered.

Field photos of you and your trophy will be displayed at the convention, and winners will be awarded at an upcoming monthly meeting and listed in a subsequent issue of Camp Talk.

OBITUARY

Mike Hammett, Owner of Sikanni River Outfitters

Mike Hammett, DSC Life Member and longtime Exhibitor, passed away in the company of his family last month after battling cancer for several months. Mike’s absence will be felt in Canada, throughout the hunting and angling community and around the world through all the lives he has touched.

Mike owned and operated Sikanni River Outfitters with his wife Dixie for over 25 years in the heart of the Canadian Rocky Mountains, providing first class and exciting hunting adventures for all their visitors from sheep hunts to girls’ fishing get-aways and horseback trail excursions. Dixie and the whole Sikanni family plan to do their best to carry out all scheduled adventures as planned for the time being.

With Sikanni River Outfitters’ strong presence as a DSC Exhibitor and Donor for over 20 years, it is no surprise that many members have had the chance to enjoy encounters with the Hammetts.

As DSC Life Member John Mowrey described his experience with Mike and Dixie for 10 days of hunting moose and mountain goat in the Convention issue of Game Trails in 2013:

“Gracious and capable hosts in every respect, Mike and Dixie Hammett of Sikanni River Outfitters offer a true wilderness experience in the remote mountainous territory surrounding the Sikanni River.” CT

DSC extends its condolences to Mike’s family and friends. He will be greatly missed.

Texas Game Wardens Graduate After Rigorous Training

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department graduated the 62nd Texas game warden and state park police officer cadet class on July 30 at the Texas State Capitol. The class included 23 game wardens and seven state park police officers.

Following their seven-month preparation at the TPWD Game Warden Training Center in Hamilton County, which has been described as a “boot camp” for law enforcement, all graduates met the state-mandated requirements for peace officer certification, including criminal and constitutional law, firearms, self-defense, use of force, defensive driving, arrest, search and seizure, ethics and first aid.

The newly-commissioned state peace officers were recognized during a special ceremony that included a keynote speaker, oath of office and commissioning by senior-level department staff and TPWD Executive Director Carter Smith.

Smith addressed the graduates, saying, “We, the State of Texas, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, along with the people in the communities in which you will live and work and serve and raise your families, will expect you to be pillars of strength and leadership, resolute in character and virtue, fair beyond reproach, and unfailing in response in times of... disaster and duress. When you are called for help, day or night, weekday or weekend, irrespective of the need or the cause or the caller for help, you will go and you will go dutifully.”

The graduates will begin their new careers stationed in counties and state parks throughout the state.

The 62nd cadet class brings a unique and diverse collection of skillsets and accomplishments; among their ranks include a licensed attorney, a high school science teacher, a former SWAT team commander, a Golden Gloves boxing champ, and a seasoned marathon runner with more than 30 races under his belt, including a pair of 50-mile events. Several in the class are military veterans, including a U.S. Marine who served on MP Squadron One, the president’s Marine One detail, and a 20-year U.S. Army special ops veteran with more than 120 static line airplane jumps on his resume. One cadet hails from California, while another is from Rhode Island, but the bulk of the class are homegrown Texans.

The duties of a Texas game warden include the enforcement of all state laws with primary emphasis on hunting, fishing and water safety regulations. As fully commissioned state peace officers, they respond to all types of emergency situations, assist other law enforcement agencies and work to educate the public about conservation issues.

“Looking back 26 years ago, becoming a Texas game warden was like a dream come true,” recalled Texas Game Warden Col. Grahame Jones, TPWD Law Enforcement Division Director. “I commend these newly commissioned game wardens for their hard work and dedication as they realize their dream and embark on a mission to protect our valuable and fragile natural resources and fellow citizens of Texas.”

State park police, also commissioned state peace officers, provide law enforcement services to the visitors and users of state parks and help enforce laws within their local jurisdictions.

“These new park police officers will be assigned to critical locations around the state where they will be working alongside other law enforcement to serve and protect the citizens of Texas within our state parks, and beyond the borders of our sites,” said Wes Masur, Chief of State Park Police with TPWD. “This class marks our fourth group of officers who have trained alongside our partner game wardens as a cohesive law enforcement unit, and I look forward to working with these dedicated individuals.”

The 62nd cadet class joins a force of more than 500 game wardens and 160 park police officers in the field to help enforce TPWD regulations and carry the department’s high standards to every corner of the state. CT

Happy Hill Farm Gift Card Drive

Happy Hill Farm is changing children’s lives, and DSC members can be a part of this important effort.

This boarding school offers more than your typical standard education. As son of the founders and current President, Todd Shipman says, “Happy Hill Farm’s mission is to find high-potential students in low-opportunity situations and raise them up to be future leaders with compassion for others.”

To produce leaders with character who are ready to give back to society and lift the next generation out of poverty, Happy Hill Farm deals with the mind, the body, and the heart. They gather bright and talented students from underprivileged backgrounds, showing them a safe environment with adults who support them and encourage them to dream big through a strong education and solid character building amongst a diverse student body.

Ed and Gloria Shipman founded Happy Hill Farm to provide a safe, secure home for underprivileged boys and girls. The boarding school now includes students from the surrounding area and international students. Eighty-five percent of the boarding students are on scholarship. Without any local, state or federal funding, the dedicated operations run thanks to caring donors. DSC members play a part each year by giving donations for gift cards during the Christmas season.

Christmas Giving for Happy Hill Farm

It is time once again to reach out to these wonderful children. Happy Hill Farm has requested that we provide gift cards because they are easier to handle and do not necessitate that names and gifts be matched up, wrapped or checked for appropriateness. Gift cards are the most requested item on the student’s wish lists. This format allows the school to treat the entire student body equally.

Donations can be cash or a check made out to DSC, or you may purchase gift cards from Wal-Mart or Target. When purchasing gift cards, $25 is the preferred amount, but any amount is appreciated! Please be sure the amount of the gift card is noted somewhere on or with the card. The Happy Hill Farm angels of DSC will purchase more gift cards with the money we receive.

You may send or drop off your donations at the DSC office any time. We will also collect donations at the monthly meetings. We need to have all cards/cash in to DSC by Dec. 11, 2018. This year, we will have approximately 158 children between the ages of five and eighteen who we are purchasing gift cards for.

Thank you so much for your donations in the past and again this year. The students at Happy Hill Farm are very appreciative of all we do for them.

I sincerely appreciate the Board’s vote of confidence by electing me to serve as President for the next three years. We will continue to work hard to carry on the great tradition of Weatherby Foundation International (WFI) and the Weatherby Hunting and Conservation Award, as well as meeting our mission and expanding our grants programs.

I would like to start out by thanking Dr. Ralph Cunningham for his steadfast leadership, mentorship, and inspiration as WFI’s President during the past two and a half years. During his Presidency, WFI continued to evolve, while also maintaining the unique six-decade long history that makes Weatherby so special. Thank you also to our dedicated Board and talented Executive Administrator, Cass Olmstead.

The Weatherby Hunting and Conservation Award is considered by many to be the world’s most prestigious and desired hunting award. The Weatherby Award Gala, where the Award is presented each year, is arguably the biggest party of international hunters anywhere, which is proven by the event being attended by many of the world’s most active hunters, legendary guides and outfitters, along with like-minded celebrities and political leaders.

Beyond being a great celebration of one of our greatest passions, we also recognize a peer who has reached the pinnacle of their hunting career. The one winner annually embodies the qualities of the ultimate sportsman: extensive worldwide hunting experience, a dedication to promoting conservation, and the highest regard of ethical standards. Our winner this year, Jim Shockey, encompasses all of this and much more as a vocal champion of fair chase hunting and protecting wild places. Jim is easily recognized around the world in his iconic black cowboy hat and red bandana as a great ambassador and storyteller of “why we hunt.”

Though the gala’s primary focus is recognizing and celebrating the Weatherby Award winner, it also serves as the primary fundraiser for WFI, our vibrant non-profit. Weatherby’s mission statement is “to educate youth and the non-hunting public on the beneficial role of ethical sport hunting and its contribution to wildlife conservation.” In 2018, the foundation has supported Outdoors Tomorrow Foundation, Trinity Oaks, Sportsmen’s Alliance, Student Air Rifle Program, No Child Left Indoors, and Freedom Hunters with a total of $112,500. During the rest of 2018 and 2019, it is expected that WFI will be able to give grants totaling as much as $250,000. WFI is so thankful for the gifts from our donors and the generosity of our gala’s attendees for buying our auction items. In the spirit of philanthropy, attendees often pay above retail for items because of their belief and support of how WFI uses these funds to further its mission.

I personally invite you to attend our Weatherby Award Gala on Wednesday, January 16 at the Omni Dallas Hotel. Join us in honoring Jim Shockey, trading hunting stories with old friends, making new connections, and raising money to ensure that WFI can continue our mission “to educate youth and the non-hunting public on the beneficial role of ethical sport hunting and its contribution to wildlife conservation.” We look forward to seeing you then!

God bless and good hunting,
Ricardo Longoria

DSC sponsored and had two teams at Big Brothers Big Sisters’ 13th Annual AMX Clay Shoot that was held on Friday, August 17 at Elm Fork Shooting Sports. Some great shootin’ from (left to right) John Patterson, DPD Officer Mike Trometer, David Hood, and John Eads. The second team was comprised of Dallas Police Officers who were invited by DSC Life Member Phil Gordon (also a DPD officer): Dan Lacy, Stephen Winkler, Adam Thayer and Beth Sundquist.
This summer, DSC advanced its commitment to youth education by funding the Texas Chapter of The Wildlife Society’s Wildlife Conservation Camp in July. Whitney Gann, the Camp Director sends this report.

In 2018, the Texas Chapter is celebrating the 25th anniversary of the Wildlife Conservation Camp. Have you heard about us? Established in 1993, the Wildlife Camp was created by the Texas Chapter of The Wildlife Society to promote conservation awareness through the education of high school students. The primary goal of the Wildlife Conservation Camp is to engage students in a program that will prepare them to be conservation-minded voters while also exposing these young adults to the diversity of natural resource-related career fields that are available. We achieve this by encouraging appreciation of wildlife and natural resources, facilitating enjoyment of the outdoors, and promoting development of a personal conservation ethic.

In short, Wildlife Camp seeks to inspire the conservation professionals of tomorrow!

This year’s camp was held July 23-28 at the H. E. Sproul Ranch near Fort Davis, Texas. We hosted 26 outstanding campers from around the state at fabulous accommodations in the beautiful Davis Mountains – and avoided the heat wave experienced by much of Texas.

The Camp focuses on outdoor, hands-on activities led by wildlife professionals who volunteer their time to provide expert instruction on a diversity of subjects. This year the campers had the pleasure of hearing from experts on topics including: conservation ethics, habitat management, population ecology, predator-prey interactions, wildlife capture and census techniques, and animal and plant identification. Campers also participated in activities such as archery, spotlight surveys, plant collecting, seining, and mist netting; many campers experienced these activities for the first time. Campers were especially excited to have the opportunity to visit with six game wardens from West Texas who put on skits describing “what not to do” while hunting.

Even though the schedule was packed with activities, the campers maintained a high level of enthusiasm and excitement throughout the week in hopes of receiving the coveted Top Team award. The self-proclaimed “yellow vipers” ultimately prevailed: Addison Elliott – Childress;
Dylan Foster – Howe; Garet Luke – Beeville; Marshall Murden – Driftwood; Ryan Schoellman – Hondo; and Harper Wood – Wichita Falls, took home the title of Top Team. Harper Wood was also named the 2018 Top Camper and will be attending the Texas Chapter of The Wildlife Society Meeting in February to share her camp experience.

Although planning and organizing a camp of this scale can be challenging, we were fortunate to have many volunteers. This year we had none college mentors representing six colleges in Texas that offer degrees in the Natural Resources fields (Sul Ross State University, Texas A&M University-Kingsville, Texas Tech University, Texas A&M University, Texas State University, and Tarleton State University). These college mentors were selected out of a large applicant pool to provide support and assistance to the campers throughout the week and did a fantastic job leading the campers through the team-building activities. We were also fortunate to have eight professional mentors spend the week with us to provide technical assistance to the campers when working on team assignments such as plant presses, journals, and animal identification.

The Wildlife Society is recognized as a leader in wildlife conservation by providing information for the sound scientific management and stewardship of all wildlife species and their habitats. Both present and future generations benefit from the efforts of this professional, non-profit organization. The Wildlife Conservation Camp offers a unique experience to young adults and provides an opportunity for exposure to practical application of game and nongame management. We would like to thank DSC for their contribution to the Wildlife Conservation Camp. We recognize that the success of this Camp is due largely to generous contributors who support the future of natural resource education in Texas – something that is held in high importance by the professionals who volunteer for and support Camp.

Do you know a high-school student who is fascinated by the natural world and enjoys being outdoors? Perhaps you know a young adult who is interested in pursuing a career in a wildlife or a natural resource related field? If so, then the Wildlife Conservation Camp would be a great summertime activity! More information and applications can be found at wildlifecamp.tx.org. The Volunteers Are Back!

The DSC 100 Kick-off Party brought together new and seasoned volunteers alike to fill almost 80 committee slots for the coming season. The DSC Office was abuzz with excitement for the 2019 Convention. If you have not signed up to volunteer yet, email Events Manager Crystal Allison at crystal@biggame.org for more information or head out to the next DSC100 sign-up event on October 4 at the DSC Office.

Be sure you join us at the next DSC 100 Meeting on October 4. You don’t want to miss it!

Convention Chairs Charlie and Winona Barnes (left) kicked off the meeting with introductions alongside Co-chairs Mark and Carol Little (right).

Volunteers had the chance to learn about all the different committees when the DSC Pavilion was transformed into a conversational “job-fair” setup.
In late July, DSC welcomed the new members who joined in the last year with a delicious steak dinner. These members met the staff, ate with the Board, and learned about upcoming events and volunteer opportunities with the Club. If you know anyone who’d like to join DSC, show them how to join online or call the office.
It’s the end of summer here in the U.S. Have you had all the golf and boating you can stand? Good, because it is almost hunting season!

Many hunters going for North American hunts will begin to wonder if their guns and loads are ready. It all depends on where they are going and what they are going to shoot, and under what conditions, as that will determine what ammo and bullets they should use.

I am constantly asked the question that if I had to choose, would I take a light and fast bullet, or a heavy and slower one? Throw that one out when sitting around the campfire some night and hang on because you will be at it all night discussing it.

One must certainly consider several factors; basically what game animals are we hunting and under what conditions. I certainly would not take slow and heavy if I were going after antelope on the wide-open prairies, nor would I take a light and fast bullet if I were hunting whitetails in the swamps and woods.

The new trend is light and fast, as Hornady’s Superformance ammo shows 100 to 200 fps faster than conventional ammo, and it’s available in a wide variety of calibers and bullet styles.

Energy, measured in foot-pounds, is not a true guideline as to what gun or ammunition to use. Push a light bullet fast enough and it will give you incredible numbers. Get a bullet heavy enough, and you do not have to push it very fast to get the same foot-pounds as the light fast bullet. Then factor in bullet construction, and it all changes again.

Extraordinary circumstances also come to mind, as just recently a fellow called to ask about what he should take to Africa for the little duikers and steenboks. He was thinking of a .243 Winchester or a .22 Hornet with light recoil, but I’ll take the opposite position in that I want a slower and heavier bullet for the little guys just like I want for the big guys.

I’ll bet that statement has many of the readers sitting up straight and wide-awake. The reason I say this is because the meat and hide destruction on any animal with an impact velocity of over 2,800 fps is awesome.

I have shot those little animals with a .308 Winchester using 150-grain bullets plus several calibers on up to a .375
H&H Magnum with 300-grain bullets. I have found that a 300-grain bullet with a muzzle velocity of 2,400 fps will do a lot less damage than a .308 Winchester does with 150-grain bullets at 2,800 fps.

Why? Because bullet construction coupled with velocity is the major factor. The big 300-grain bullet is designed to penetrate big animals like eland, Cape buffalo, brown bears, etc., so it will just punch a hole through a small animal much like a solid.

Now for comparison, taking a 7mm STW in the woods for a 100-yard shot is not my idea of the way to go either, as that super fast bullet will really do some serious meat damage, and most hunters love their venison.

Odds are that many North American hunters will be after elk or moose on the large side, and deer or antelope on the smaller side. For the elk-size game, I certainly recommend a .30-06 Springfield or any of the .300 Magnums, with 180-grain bullets being my first choice.

For those going only for deer, be it whitetails or mule deer, conditions will vary again as they can be in the thick woods or on the plains like an antelope.

My first choice would be to use a .270 Winchester or a 7mm Remington Magnum for long range hunting. Of course don’t discount the WSM or Remington Ultra Magnum calibers. Just use a gun that you can place the first shot correctly at 200-plus yards.

Recently, I also had a fellow write and ask about the best bullet for his .300 Winchester Magnum for a Dall sheep hunt he was going on. My reply was to ask him if he had a favorite load he used for deer. If so, use that! Sheep are not especially hard to kill as compared to a white-tailed deer or African plains game, so don’t overthink it.

There are no free rides in shooting. Haste makes waste, and the faster the bullet goes the quicker the barrels wear out. You get what you pay for, so buy the best equipment you can afford. Use lots of common sense in all that you do.

Odds are that you have at least one gun in the rack that will do what you need. So spend time practicing with it, don’t worry about getting a new one, and try to use ammo and bullets designed for the job at hand.

It doesn’t matter if you reload or use some of the fine stuff that the factories now have available, nothing beats bullet placement. CT
Woodbury Taxidermy’s Jimmy Ray Dieringer Passes at 60

Jimmy Ray Dieringer, age 60 of Ingram, TX, passed away on July 10, 2018. Jimmy started working with Lloyd Woodbury in 1977 as an apprentice at Woodbury Taxidermy in Center Point in Kerr County. Jimmy became a small business owner in 1979 after Lloyd Woodbury’s retirement, moving the business to its current location in Ingram.
